FADE IN:

INT. NORA'S OFFICE – DCIU BUILDING – DAY

DCIU Special Agent NORA FIELDS is leaning back in her chair, a FILE open on her lap. She is focused on a person sitting on the other side of her desk but they are currently hidden from our view.

NORA

Well, your work ethic appears to be great and you've got a solid solve rate, but I notice you've been transferred between five different DCIU branches in the last four years. Care to explain?

UNKNOWN MALE (O.S)

I'm pretty certain all the details are in my file. Ma'am.

NORA

I'm giving you a chance to tell me your side of the story and you're going to pass that up?

UNKNOWN MALE (O.S)

(beat)

Apparently my attitude... irritated some of my former workmates.

NORA

Oh?

UNKNOWN MALE (O.S)

And maybe I was a little over-determined when it came to solving some cases.

Nora nods and looks down at the open file. She frowns a little as she reads and the unknown male CLEARS HIS THROAT tentatively before speaking again.

UNKNOWN MALE (O.S)

Look, Special Agent Fields, I know I'm hanging on by my fingertips here. Believe it or not but I love this job, I really do. I was told that if you won't have me nobody would. All I'm asking for is one more chance.

Nora closes the file slowly and places it on her desk.

NORA

Well you're in luck. Unfortunately one of our detectives was recently injured and it does not look like he'll be able to return to work for some time. Even if he does return fieldwork isn't likely to be an option. His old position is open to you, if you want it.

UNKNOWN MALE (O.S)

Of course.

NORA

I want you to remember though, just because I'm used to housing the more... colorful detectives here in Barton doesn't mean I'm going to excuse your behavior. You are going to keep your comments in check and will abide by all DCIU guidelines, not that I should have to remind you of that.

UNKNOWN MALE (O.S)

I think I can do that, Special Agent Fields.

NORA

(doubtfully)

Think?

UNKNOWN MALE (O.S)

(hastily)

Will. I will do that.

Nora smiles and extends her hand as the camera moves away from her to focus on the young man sitting on the other side of the desk. We get our first look at Detective SHAYNE GREY as he shakes hands with Nora.

NORA (O.S)

Then I'd like to welcome you,
Detective Grey, to the Barton DCIU.

Shayne smiles and on that we –
